BREATHING BEYOND EXPECTATIONS

BY LAURA LONG

If you've been to our new office, you know that we have a pretty nice view of the strip... and the heavy cloud of dust that sits on top of the valley when we've had particularly windless days. The American Lung Association released its 2026 "State of the Air" assessment last month. Clark County received F grades, and is among the nation's more polluted metro areas for smog. What does that mean? Increased respiratory risk for all of us.

Investing in yourself pays the best interest. When we breathe more than 22,000 times per day, having a partner invested in breathing health into life is vital (pun intended!)

This month, Diazo highlights Henderson Pulmonology, a comprehensive lung specialist.

ABOUT HENDERSON PULMONOLOGY

Henderson Pulmonology was founded with a simple mission: help patients breathe easier and improve their quality of life.

The practice was founded by Dr. Kevin Tsui to treat patients experiencing COPD, asthma, pulmonary hypertension, pulmonary fibrosis, and sleep apnea.

Dr. Tsui is passionate about delivering personalized care and takes the time to truly connect with his patients, ensuring they feel welcome, comfortable, and well cared for at every visit, breathing health into life.

Breathing Health
Into Life.

MEET DR. KEVIN “CHOP” TSUI

Dr. Kevin Tsui is an experienced pulmonologist with over 16 years of practice. As Medical Director of the ICU and Vice Chief of Staff at Spring Valley Hospital Medical Center, Dr. Tsui plays an active role in training the next generation of physicians through his work with fellows, residents, and medical students at Spring Valley Hospital and Touro University Nevada.

Outside the office, Dr. Tsui enjoys spending time with his family, pursuing his passion for cars and motorcycles, and cheering on local sports teams. Known for having the coolest hair and sneaker game in the city, he brings a warm, approachable personality to his practice that makes every patient feel comfortable, welcome, and right at home.
